DCA's Legacy Club

DCA's Legacy Club ensures world-class performances and cultural opportunities for the audiences and students of tomorrow. Joining DCA's Legacy Club makes a powerful statement, yet is simple to do. Lovers of the performing and creative arts include the auditorium in their long-range financial plans, forever linking their name with DCA. Giving methods include the following:

- Bequests or gifts made in a will or living trust
- Retirement accounts, such as an IRA, a 401(k), or other tax-deferred account
- Life income gifts, which can increase your income, give you an income-tax charitable deduction for a portion of your gift, eliminate capital-gains taxes if you make your gift with appreciated securities, and also reduce estate taxes
- Charitable trusts, with which income is paid to DCA during the term of the trust, after which the assets are transferred back to you or to your heirs
- Real estate, either as an outright gift or as a personal residence with retained life estate so that you or your spouse can continue to use the home throughout your lifetimes
- Life insurance, with which you can make a gift of the policy to DCA
- Tangible personal property, such as instruments, antiques, or works of art

We're happy to work with you and your advisors to develop a plan that meets your philanthropic, cultural, and financial objectives.
